Westcotec Ltd have been members of ARTSM since its incorporation. The support, advice and assistance provided by the organisation has been fabulous. There is always advance notice for any regulation changes that are coming into force. Information and guidance are always forthcoming. Overall a very good organisation with whom to have membership.

Dave Smith, Director, Westcotec

Simmons Signs Ltd has been a long-standing member of ARTSM and has always been committed to raising standards in traffic engineering, ultimately saving lives on the roads.

We have worked very closely with technical support from ARTSM to demonstrate that our products enhance the safety features of the Belisha Beacon whilst continuing to remain compliant with the requirements of both BS 8442 and the TSRGD.

Mike Wood, Simmons Signs

As an ARTSM member, Mobile VMS are able to engage with fellow VMS providers and ensure transparency across the industry in respect of recognised standards and adherence to regulation. There is a lack of education across the industry when it comes to accepted standards. This can be problematic for both VMS suppliers and their end users whether they are local authorities engaged in street-works projects or road contractors responsible for large scale road infrastructure projects. ARTSM educate members, ensuring continuity across the Highways industry, lobbying on our behalf with 'Highways England', 'Department for Transport' and Government bodies should a regulatory situation arise which directly impacts their members.

MEMBERS' TESTIMONIALS

Limelight Signs has been a major part of ARTSM now for many years.

An ideal way to be kept informed of changes and future developments in the highway sector coupled with developing relationships with many other members and organisations involved in our industry.

Paul Styles, Director, Limelight

Membership of ARTSM has benefitted Keysoft Solutions in a number of ways. It has given us a way to sell our services as a quality assured company.

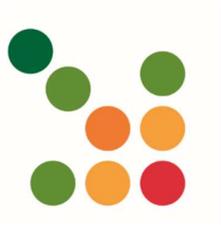

Being a member of Association has given us the opportunity to engage with the stakeholders such as the DfT, Highways England, and Standards bodies responsible for the UK's input into product standards. This gives us early information when industry faces changes, provides the opportunity to demonstrate Keysoft Solutions is a thought leader, and opportunities to help shape policy.

Will Baron, Director, Keysoft Solutions

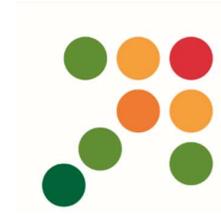

The recent widening of ARTSM's membership to recognise the knowledge and experience that designers, installers, Local Authorities and other parties have and that can contribute to the development of good practice and high standards in the signs and signals sectors shows the association to be forward looking and aware of the trends that are affecting our sector

I was very impressed with how ARTSM handled their investigation; and dealt only with the facts that were presented.
